Rachel Writes...

Sometimes it's done in private; sometimes it's done in public. Some of us do it alone, whilst others insist it's best done in the company of others. I believe many do it in the shower and, in a very famous film, it's done in the bedroom. Can you guess what I'm talking about? Singing, of course! (What else?) Even for those of us with ropey voices, it is an almost irresistible urge. Singing expresses something deep within us, yet can be desperately embarrassing, perhaps precisely because it exposes so much of ourselves. It ranks alongside drawing/painting as the thing which I hear most people say they can't do. While it's true that most of us will never be a Mario Lanza/Maria Callas/Julie Andrews etc., there are very, very few of us who are completely tone deaf.

Many years ago a friend of mine pointed out that church is one of the few public places where people have permission to sing, indeed where it is actively encouraged. This comment struck me as rather astute – for although these days there are karaoke bars and such like, the fact remains that should one start singing in public one draws rather peculiar looks. (I should know, I'm forever singing to myself!) I'm saddened that more of us do not take up the opportunities the church gives us to sing with others; not only that, but to sing our hearts out without shame or disapproval. It can be a powerful and moving thing to sing with others some of the great hymns.

On 26th September, St Nick's is participating Back to Church Sunday. This diocese started this event a few years back as a way of encouraging people, who for whatever reason, had stopped coming to church to feel confident about coming back. It's an opportunity for all of us to invite people to come for a relaxed and friendly service, especially as we shall also be celebrating Harvest that day. It's also a chance for us all to sing our lungs out to the Lord!

Sadly, all of us at times can feel that at church we are going through the motions or have forgotten why it really matters that we are there. But if we really give ourselves to our hymn singing I believe we shall soon remember – for at the heart of hymnody is praise, worship and joy. And such things spill over into our hearts and warm us.

The Church of England doesn't always have a great reputation for hymn singing. We have a reputation for being suspicious of enthusiasm especially in singing. In the weeks to come let's raise the roof and rejoice in the Lord!

p.s. Don't forget 'You've got to be in it to win it'

A little boy opened the big family Bible. He was fascinated as he fingered through the old pages. Suddenly, something fell out of the Bible. He picked up the object and looked at it. What he saw was an old leaf that had been pressed in between the pages.

"Mum, look what I found!" the boy called out, turning the leaf over and over.

"What is it, dear?" asked his mother.

With astonishment in his voice, the young boy ventured: "I think it's Adam's underwear."

Deliver us...

I had been teaching my three-year-old daughter, Cathy, the Lord's Prayer. Then one evening at bedtime she attempted it solo. I listened with pride as she carefully enunciated each word, right up to the end of the prayer. "Lead us not into temptation," she prayed, "but deliver us some e-mail. Amen."

Finding Friends

I want to be friends
I want to be friends
I want to be friends,
I do.
I'll give you my sweets,
I'll lend you my pen
If I can be friends with you.
We'll sit side by side,
You can copy my work,
I'll let you go first into dinner.
You can plait my hair
At story time
And on Sport's Day
I'll let you be winner.
Please be my friend
As I'm new to this school
And nobody likes me I know
I don't want to cry,
But my eyes feel all hot
And my feet are just wanting to go.

I can come to your house -
Your Mum won't mind at all -
I can stay till it's bedtime, you say.
So you will be my friend,
You're new here as well,
Then it hasn't been such a bad day!

Sol says:
"We all need a friend. Abraham had a really good one - and so can we."

"Abraham believed God ... and he was called God's friend."

Pet's Corner

Hi, my name is Charlie and I live with my "Mum and Dad" in Didsbury. I was born on New Year's Day, so I am now just over 7 months old. This is a picture of me in my new bed with one of my favourite toys – my Giraffe. I have a big box full of toys, so I always have something different to play with.

My Mum and Dad have just been away on holiday, so I have been to stay with my Auntie Lyn and family. They have a lovely dog called Dori, who is now my best friend. We had a great time, playing, chasing and running round the garden. We also went out on walks together and I had the time of my life!

I was pleased to see my Mum and Dad when they got back from Spain, and I have now settled back at home, but look forward to staying with Auntie Lyn and the family on many more occasions - especially seeing Dori and playing with her again.

I think my Auntie Lyn was sorry to see me go home, but I'll be back !

Well I think that's all my news for now, so I will get back to sleep in this lovely new bed.

Charlie x

September is a month of change – of endings and beginnings. Summer gives way to Autumn, to spider webs wet with dew, to harvest in the fields, to all things mellow and fruitful. Suddenly, the pace of life picks up again – holidays are over, and it is back to work and back to school time. University beckons, with hours of study amid stacks of books in the library. The new season is under-way! Historically, the Church celebrates All Angels Day and St Matthew the Evangelist, among others, this month.

The messager wife

A man came home from work and found his three children outside, still in their pyjamas, playing in the mud, with empty food boxes and 20 wrappers strewn across the garden.

The door of his wife's car was open, and so the front door to the house, and there was no sign of the dog. Rushing into the living room, he found an even bigger mess. A lamp had been knocked over, and the throw rug was wadded against one wall. The TV was loudly blaring, and the floor was strewn with toys and various items of clothing.

In the kitchen, dishes filled the sink, breakfast food was spilled on the counter, the fridge door was open wide, dog food was spilled on the floor, a broken glass lay under the table, and a small pile of sand was spread by the back door. He quickly ran upstairs, tripping over toys and more piles of clothes, frantically looking for his wife. She must be very ill, something serious must have happened.

He was met with a small trickle of water as it made its way out the bathroom door. As he peered inside he found wet towels, scummy soap and more toys strewn over the floor. Miles of toilet paper lay in a heap and toothpaste had been smeared over the mirror and walls.

As he rushed to the bedroom, he found his wife still curled up in the bed in her pyjamas, reading a novel. She looked up at him, smiled, and asked how his day went. He looked at her bewildered and stammered: "What – what happened here?"

She again smiled and answered, "You know every day when you come home from work and you ask me what I do all day? Well, today I didn't do it."
